ABOUT WFT FLIGHT FORMAT

The WFT Flight Format is a new tournament structure designed to address common player concerns while preserving event sustainability.

How the WFT Flight Format Works:

- All Players Pay one entry fee for the entire event regardless of which flight(s) are played.
- Matches are best 2/3 for Rookie through Pro ranks, and 3/5 for Open. All matches are win-by-2 with no cap, meaning matches continue until a player/team wins by 2 points

Seeding:

- All Flights and the final Elimination Bracket are seeded.

Other Important Details:

- If you lose in Flight A before winning 3 matches in a row (including a bye), and you also lose in Flight B before winning 3 matches in a row (including a bye), you are out of the event and cannot register for eliminations, hence you lost 2 matches.
- Flight A and B are separate brackets. Wins from one Flight do not carry to the other. Each Flight is a brand-new challenge to win 3 consecutive matches.
- Losing once in a Flight eliminates you from that Flight. Flights are not "3 matches guaranteed" -- a first-match loss means you are out of that Flight

A Flight A Entry:

- Players who lose in Flight A will be automatically entered into Flight B. You may also enter Flight B if you didn't enter Flight A, and it still cost the same entry.
- Lose once in Flight A, and you're out of Flight A and don't play any more matches in that.

B Flight B Entry (Second Chance):

- Players who lose in Flight A will be automatically entered into Flight B. You may also enter Flight B if you didn't enter Flight A, and it still cost the same entry.
- Win 3 consecutive matches in Flight B → Qualify for the elimination bracket. Shall you lose in Flight B, you don't play any more matches in Flight B and you are out of the event.

Elimination Bracket

- Single elimination to a champion
- 3rd and 4th place teams play a tiebreaker for award placement and prize difference.
